Abstract

This deliverable consists of a map viewer aimed at providing quick and understandable information on soil nutrient balances in Europe. It is mainly a software that allows to view, select and download soil nutrient maps from all over Europe.

The methodology for the construction of these maps is also uploaded to the host and linked in the map viewer and can be checked to see how the maps have been constructed.

1 Map visor

The map viewer is public and is loaded on a specific host of the sea2land project, at the URL: www.sea2landgisviewer.eu.

This URL provides access to the viewer and the methodology used for the construction of the maps. It is a live tool that can be modified by authorised personnel if any improvements or errors are identified.

The map viewer itself provides more details on specific aspects of the content, assumptions, and methodology for the elaboration of the maps. Access problems should be communicated to project coordinator
